Note and Comment

The Allied drive still continues on all fronts. In France the British and French are gradually driving back the Huns and capturing thousands of men along with enormous quantities of guns and ammunition.

On the Eastern front the Russians are still moving forward along practically the whole line. The Italians are also taking more ground every day.

Since the outbreak of the war the British government has purchased for the army 39,033,923 pairs of worsted socks, 44,692,723 yards of flannel, enough for to make 12,500,000 shirts, and 4,592,733 yards of white flannel for hospital shirts.

A Minnesota minister says a man is on the downward path when he can no longer remember the Ten Commandments.

Which no doubt accounts for the crowded condition of the downward path.

Official report is that of the 2150 soldiers who have returned to Canada wounded or unfit for service, only two per cent, or about forty of them, expressed a wish to go on farms.

This suggests that we must not look to the land to take care of any great number of the thousand soldiers when they return.

It is said that the Germans are now figuring on building trans-Atlantic Zeppelins.

The voyage of the German submarine across to the States has aroused their ambitions.

But that is not the time the trip has been made, as ten submarines, being sent to England under their own power, since war was declared.

An important discovery was made at Barriefield camp the other day and by it is believed the secret of which the German staff has been able to get the contents of messages sent from the allies' headquarters to the front line, has been found.

Working at his instrument at Barriefield on Saturday Sergt Hicks heard a message which he knew could not be sent from any wireless station within his receiving limits.

It was a lesson in the Morse code. He came to the conclusion that it must be from the buzzer that was working in a tent ninety feet away.

The electricity which was passing over the buzzer was being absorbed and became active over the wireless receiving apparatus.

This is undoubtedly what the Germans have long known and used in many cases to good advantage against the allies.

An order to advance would become known to them instantly as well as many other things they should not know.

Great importance is attached to the discovery in official circles.

We may safely assume that all the allies have learnt at least one economic lesson—which is, never to allow their so-called key industries to fall again under German control.

It was madness to permit it before the war, but their absorption was gradual, and successive British governments refrained from interference, either because of the furious party cries which would have been raised if any overt steps had been taken, or because of their blind faith in the gospel of cheapness and in their refusal to admit the reality of the German peril.

Two years ago, in the general provincial elections, the Conservative candidate in North Perth was elected with more than 1100 majority. Last week the Liberal candidate had nearly 700 of a majority in a bye-election.

Such a big turn-over in so short a period is a striking example of the change of public sentiment. This is mainly due to the Ontario government's change of policy with regards to the liquor question.

In a little while the government of Ireland, all but six Ulster counties, in all matters affecting Ireland alone, will be in the hands of an executive responsible only to a legislature elected by the Irish people.

But the 103 members of parliament representing Irish constituencies will continue to sit in the Imperial parliament and take an active part in the government of the whole empire.

They will have much to do with the empire's foreign policy and may exercise a powerful influence on the empire's international affairs.

At the time, Canada, which has nearly double the population of Ireland, has not a voice in the affairs of the empire, but things will no doubt change and all parts of the great Empire will be sending its representatives to London.

Those riotous battalions at Camp Borden should be sent to front as soon as possible.

They are spoiling for a fight, and their fighting spirit ought to be utilized without delay.

A captured German officer explains that it is better to surrender than to die because Germany will need all her soldiers for the great war four years hence. He will not find that sort of thing in the German war book.

A woman and her daughter were at sea during very rough weather. After a silence of some time the mother asked—"Are you seasick, dear?" "No I think not," replied the girl; "but I'd hate to yawn."

"Can't you find any work at all?" "Plenty, sir; but everybody wants a recommendation from my last employer."

"Well, can't you get one?" "No, sir; he's been dead twenty eight years."

TOO LITTLE BLOOD MEANS MUCH MISERY

That is What Makes People Pale, Weak and Languid.

The one source of most of the misery that affects men and women and growing children, is poverty of the blood. If you consult a doctor he says you are anemic, which really means bloodless. That is what makes people drag along, always tired, never real hungry, often unable to digest their food, breathless after the slightest exertion, and too often on the verge of complete breakdown.

More weak, anemic people have been made strong, energetic and cheerful by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills than by any other means. These pills actually make new, rich blood which reaches every part of the body, strengthens the nerves and brings new health and strength. The following is proof of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to restore health. Mr. Geo. Turner, New Haven, N. S., says: "No doubt due to constant hard work I got in a badly run down condition. It took very little exertion to tire me, and my appetite was far from being good. Often I had headaches, and when going up stairs, or after any slight exertion my heart would palpitate violently, and I grew considerably alarmed about my condition. I decided to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after using a few boxes I felt much better. I continued using the pills for some weeks longer, and they completely cured me. I can warmly recommend this medicine to men who are weak or run down."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.

Dear Sirs,—This fall I got thrown on a fence and hurt my chest very bad, so I could not work and it hurt me to breathe. I tried all kinds of liniments and they did me no good. One bottle of MINARD'S Liniment, warmed on flannels and applied on my breast, cured me completely.

For Ships in American Harbors

There are eighty-eight German and twelve Austrian ships in American ports with a total net tonnage of 28,479, lying idle on account of the war. The merchant ships may leave when they like, but warships must remain till the termination of the war. The reason why none of the merchantmen leave port is because the Allies maintain an effective patrol outside the three mile limit.

Defeat
What is defeat? Nothing but education, nothing but the first step to something better.

In this Matter of Health

one is either with the winners or with the losers.

It's largely a question of right eating—right food. For sound health one must cut out rich, indigestible foods and choose those that are known to contain the elements that build sturdy bodies and keen brains.

Grape-Nuts

is a wonderfully balanced food, made from whole wheat and barley. It contains all the nutriment of the grain, including the mineral phosphates, indispensable in Nature's plan for body and brain rebuilding.

Grape-Nuts is a concentrated food, easy to digest. It is economical, has delicious flavour, comes ready to eat, and has helped thousands in the winning class.

Forestry Farms

Changing the Treeless Prairie Into a Park-Like Country

"Saskatchewan requires more Forestry Farms. Then there would be at least two lectures continuously on the road to better meetings, giving lectures on forestry, shelter-belts, etc. The gospel of tree-planting should be brought to farmers. These lectures should take the names and locations of farmers who are anxious and ready to plant trees, send in the lists to the head office in the province, and inspectors should be sent out to examine each farm, so as to advise farmers where to plant, and how to prepare the ground for the following year's planting. It is all right to expend money on the general Conservation Commission to entice citizens the Dominion over on what our natural resources are and how they should be conserved, but the practical working end of the problem should not be neglected. Give Saskatchewan forestry farms and practical men to meet progressive farmers, and in a few years the treeless, wind-swept prairies would be changed to a park-like country with trees on every farm."—Saskatchewan Farmer.

They All Went Away Together

C. A. BONNOT'S RHEUMATISM CURED BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

And With It Went All These Symptoms Which Mark the Earlier Stages of Kidney Trouble.

Grand Clairiere, Man., (Special).—All persons who suffer from rheumatism should use Dodd's Kidney Pills. This is the statement volunteered by Mr. P. A. Bonnot, a well-known resident of this place. Asked to give the reasons why Mr. Bonnot said: "I suffered for three years from rheumatism. I consulted a doctor about getting any results. Four boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills fixed me up."

That rheumatism is caused by sick kidneys failing to strain the uric acid out of the blood was again shown in Mr. Bonnot's case. His earlier symptoms were: heart fluttering, broken and undressing sleep, little appetite, a tired nervous feeling, a heaviness after meals, neuralgia and backache.

When he cured his kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills the rheumatism and all the other symptoms of kidney trouble disappeared.

A Millionaire's Restitution
Wm. F. Cochran of Baltimore says: "Burning with passion for humanity, and feeling a sincere and deep yearning to make my life count for something, I am seeking to make restitution in some degree to society for the debt which as a parasite all these years I owe it. Particularly am I concerned about that section of society the worst of whose brow I have eaten my bread, and upon whose backs I have had a free ride—labor."—Baltimore Christian Socialist.

Choked for Air. Some little irritant becomes lodged in the bronchial tubes, other gather, and the awful choking of asthma results. Nothing offers quite such quick and positive relief as Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. The healing, soothing smoke or vapor penetrates, clears the passages and gives, without effort, usually it completely cures. It has behind it years of success. It is the sure remedy for every sufferer.

According to a heart specialist, if one retires to bed at ten instead of twelve he saves the heart 500,000 foot-pounds a year. Lying down half an hour daily lessens its labor in the same period by 219,000 foot-pounds.

It Will Cure a Cold.—Colds are the commonest ailments of mankind and if neglected may lead to serious conditions. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil will relieve the bronchial passages of inflammation speedily and thoroughly and will strengthen them against subsequent attack. And as it cures the inflammation it will stop the cough because it allays all irritation in the throat. Try it and prove it.

Italien Royalty's Narrow Escape

Italy's Queen narrowly escaped raiders who dropped bombs near the train on which Queen Helena and the Princesses Juliana and Harald were travelling. The royal party was on the way from a section of the front to Vienna when the Austrian aeroplane made the attack. The lights in the train were extinguished and the railroad line was in darkness, but despite these precautions bombs fell on the line near the train, breaking telegraph wires.

Minard's Liniment Cures Garget in Cows.

A Back Door Dodge

When German meets German then comes the tug of wits. The butchers of Cologne do not at all care for the State organization of meat supplies. One enterprising son of "Kultur" secreted five tons of meat in his premises and sold it to "good customers" at the back door. When faced with the discovery, the wily butcher pointed to the regulations which specified that the restrictions only applied to meat sold over the counter. The law has been made more specific.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper.

Stamps as Spy Messages

Arranged to Convey Information of a Naval or Military Nature

The Italian Government has forbidden the exportation and the German Government the importation of used and unused postage stamps, according to information received from Switzerland by Hugh Clark, a New York philatelist.

American dealers' supplies of stamps from Italy are thus suspended; and those from Germany are delayed because they must come by way of Roumania and the Orient, whereas formerly they reached here by way of Italy.

The British Government does not permit German stamps to be sent out by way of Holland or the Scandinavian countries, according to local philatelist, and the French Government is equally strict.

The letter received by Mr. Clark carried the intimation that two secret codes built upon the use of postage stamps sent through letters had been discovered by the Italian and German authorities, and that these were responsible for the respective decisions of the two governments. Through these codes certain numbers and types of stamps, imported or exported, were said to be conveying information of a naval or military nature.

Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is the owner of the firm of W. J. Cheney & Co. doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State of Ohio, and that he will be the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A.D. 1918.

(SEAL) Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts through the blood. It is put through a process of bleaching in order to endeavor to give it the look of pure time wheaten flour. There are two principal ways of achieving this—both processes highly injurious, especially to the digestive organs and both of children. One is the mixing of alum with the flour, the other bleaching it by means of chemical fumes. There is no law to prevent either, and no obligation to give the purchaser any maximum of wheat in the loaf.—Dr. Wp. A. Brend in the Nineteenth Century.

ACHING BONES AND SORE JOINTS CURED! ALL RHEUMATIC TENDENCIES DESTROYED!

Away Go the Crutches,
Every Sufferer Made
Well Quickly

Old age is usually afflicted with rheumatism. Very few past fifty escape its tortures.

Many it bends and deforms. Upon the countenances of others it marks the effects of its awful suffering. Nervine will cure rheumatism. It takes the pain out of throbbing muscles and swollen joints. It untwists gnarled knuckles. It does this quickly and surely.

Nervine is not used internally. You just rub it on—lots of half rubbing is required for a minute or two, and then you feel Nervine penetrating through the tissues; you feel it drawing out the congestion, feel it sink in deeper and deeper till at last it touches the core of the joint or the heart of the muscle affected.

You won't stay in pain with Nervine—no one ever does. Just try it—you will be amazed at its magical power over pain, a power it gets from the extracts and juices of certain rare herbs and roots it contains. It's harmless—any child can use Nervine, can rub it on for a sore throat, for a bad cold, for stiff neck, for earache. No family remedy—half so useful.

The large 50 cent bottle is the most economical; trial size 25 cents. All dealers, or the Catarthzone Co., Kingston, Canada.

Baker's Bread in Great Britain

The ordinary whitened bread has on occasions when analyzed been found to contain wood-dust, bone-dust, alum, sulphuric powder and salts or magnesia, which enables the flour to take up far more than the normal amount of water. As this emulsified flour known in the trade as "seconds" is naturally of a grey and unattractive color, it is put through a process of bleaching in order to endeavor to give it the look of pure time wheaten flour. There are two principal ways of achieving this—both processes highly injurious, especially to the digestive organs and both of children. One is the mixing of alum with the flour, the other bleaching it by means of chemical fumes. There is no law to prevent either, and no obligation to give the purchaser any maximum of wheat in the loaf.—Dr. Wp. A. Brend in the Nineteenth Century.

Fighting or Paying

Nothing might well earn greater disapprobation on the part of the public than that the wife or other dependent of an enlisted soldier should suffer need. Is not the separation from husband or son, with the days and nights of anxiety that necessarily follow, a sacrifice greater far than the dollars which are the contribution of those who escape these penalties of separation for many months, and perhaps forever? Besides, the patriotic citizen does not and will not cavil at paying. Even though here and there to pay is a hardship, there is recompense in the knowledge that not in the history of the British Empire has there been opportunity for so great service to the cause of humanity and civilization.—London Free Press

"Get a spoon, Freddie. Mother has something for you."

"A big spoon or a little spoon?"

"What difference does it make?"

THE RIGHT OIL IN THE RIGHT PLACE

NO lubricant is good enough for every purpose. You don't want to use the same oil on a high-speed, low-power tractor as on a low-speed, high-power tractor. You can't use the same oil in your thrasher as you do on a spindle.

The Imperial Oil Company makes a special oil exactly suited to every part of every farm machine.

STANDARD GAS ENGINE OIL

Recommended by leading builders for all types of internal combustion engines, whether tractor or stationary, gasoline or kerosene. It keeps its body at high temperature, is practically free from carbon, and is absolutely uniform in quality.

PRAIRIE HARVESTER OIL

An excellent all-round lubricant for exposed bearings of harvesters and other farm machinery. Stays on the bearings; will not gum or corrode.

CAPITOL CYLINDER OIL

The most effective and economical lubricant for steam engine cylinders; proven superior in practical competition with other cylinder oils.

ELDORADO CASTOR OIL

A high-grade, thick-bodied oil for lubricating the loose bearings of farm machinery, sawmills and factory shafting.

THRASHER HARD OIL

Keeps the cool bearing cool. Does not depend on heat or friction to cause it to lubricate.

STEEL BARRELS—All our oils can be obtained in 28-gallon and 45 gallon steel barrels. These barrels save their cost by eliminating leakage. You use every drop you pay for. Clean and convenient.

If your lubricating problem gives you trouble, let us help you. Tell us the machine, the make, the part—and we will gladly give you the benefit of our experience in selecting the proper lubricants.

Tale of a Fortune

Peter Thelussen, a London merchant, who died 1797, leaving a fortune of 700,000 pounds willed 100,000 pounds off to his wife and children. The balance was committed to trustees, with the stipulation that it should be allowed to accumulate during the lives of the sons and grandsons. When they were all dead the fortune was to go to the oldest living great-grandson.

In the event of there being no great-grandson, the money was to go to the government to be applied on the national debt.

The will was contested, but the heirs were unable to break it. The last grandson died and the fortune was turned over to Charles Thelussen, a few years ago. Experts had figured up the amount and the fortune had grown to 1,900,000 pounds.

But the expenses of litigation and administration had been so great that the heir received only about the amount of the original fortune, 700,000 pounds.

The Route March

We've got our foreign service boots—
we've 'ad 'em 'alf a day;
If it wasn't for the Adjutant I'd sling the brutes away.
If I could 'ave my old ones back I'd give a fortnight's pay,
An' chuck 'em in the pair I got this morning.

We've marched a 'undred miles today
we've 'undreds more to go,
An' if you don't believe me, why,
I'll tell you 'ow I know—
I've measured out the distance by the blister on my toe,
For I got my foreign service boots
this morning!

We've got our foreign-service boots—
I wish that I was dead;
I wish I'd got the colonel's 'orse an'
'im in y feet instead;
I wish I was an acrobat, I'd walk
upon my 'ead
For I got my foreign-service boots
this morning!

We're 'opping and we're 'obbling to a cock-eyed ragtime tune,
Not a soul what isn't limpin' in the bloomin' 'ole ballroom,
But buck you up, my com-e-rades,
we're off to Flanders soon,
For we got our foreign-service boots
this morning!

War Notes

After nearly two years of use by the Canadian army the old Ross rifle, that pet of Sir Sam Hughes, has at last been thrown into the discard and the newer Enfield now takes its place.

Despite all the clamor raised against the Ross rifle, by those at the front, as being unfit the Canadian military authorities still persisted in arming those battalions from this country.

Now the British authorities have re-armed them and made away with the obsolete Ross.

The casualties are less than was expected and the results greater in the present big drive in which the allies are now five miles beyond the first lines of German defenses and they are still steadily advancing and giving the Huns no rest.

For the first time in eighteen months the British used cavalry taking the enemy completely by surprise at the sudden appearance of mounted men.

Russian and South African troops are now on the fighting lines in France and doing their bit in the big drive.

Since the first of the month the British have taken upwards of 12,000 prisoners, the French about double that.

An allied advance from Salonki is looked for within a few days as great preparations are going on in anticipation of a quick move against the Bulgarians, who will no doubt have to stand the brunt of the fighting alone, as the Aust-Germans seem to have about all they can handle themselves, right now.

Seven German generals have just been pensioned off by the Kaiser. All of them sent in their resignations but no reason has been given for their retirement.

Five of them will leave the army and the other two have been given home commands.

The Italian destroyer Impetuoso was torpedoed and sunk by a submarine. Most of the crew were saved.

British troops have been very active around the Gulf of Suez raiding over sixty miles of bad country, held by the Turks, and capturing many prisoners.

British Columbia is sending ballots to the soldiers in the old country so that they can have their vote in the B.C. provincial elections.

The agreement that has been in effect between Italy and Germany providing for the mutual respect by the two nations of the rights of each other's subjects, has been denounced by Italy owing to the hostile attitude of Germany.

The German foreign office has notified Italy that all pensions due Italians have been suspended. The attitude of Germany towards Italian subjects in Germany and Belgium is causing much resentment and may lead to a declaration of war.

Another batch of wounded Canadian soldiers landed in Quebec on Sunday.

RAISING THE ENEMY'S TRENCHES HAS NOW BECOME GRIM WORK

HAND TO HAND FIGHTING IN SURPRISE ATTACKS

The Monotony of Trench Existence Broken by Preparing for Raids, and in Affording an Opportunity for Our Soldiers To Get at Close Grips With the Enemy

Between the British and German modern machine warfare, wherein every man was supposed to have become a pawn without initiative of his own, has been developed perhaps the deadliest form of sport imagination can conceive—where every combatant places his cunning, his strength and his skill in hand-to-hand fighting against those of his adversary.

Hardly a day passes that there is not a trench "raid" by one side or the other, and sometimes several such sallies. No subject is more taboed in its details by the censor. Commanders do not want to let the enemy know why their raids succeed or fail or why the enemy's succeed or fail. Invention fights invention; secrecy fights secrecy.

All the elements of boxing, wrestling, fencing and mob tactics, plus the stealth of the Indian who crept up on a camp on the plains and the teamwork of a professional baseball nine, are valuable to the soldier.

The weapon that is least needed is a rifle. A club or a sandbag or an Indian battle axe or spiked club is better. A good sapper without any weapon at all may take an advantage; a loaded rifle away from him and knock him down and then kick him to death.

The monotony of trench existence these days is broken by preparing for raids and against them. Battalion commanders work out schemes of strategy which would have won them fame in smaller wars. Fifty men or a thousand may be engaged in a raid. It may be on a front of fifty yards or a thousand. It is object is to take as many prisoners and kill and wound as many of the enemy as possible in a few minutes; and then to get back to their own trenches. The attack is to hold on to the piece of trench they have taken, the guns are turned on them, the bombers close up on either side, and machine guns and rifles are prepared to sweep the zone of retirement.

An uncanny curiosity gives the soldiers incentive for the raids. Ordinarily they never see the enemy, but in their burrows across "No Man's Land" from their own burrows. Unseen bullets from unseen snipers crack overhead. Unseen guns suddenly concentrate in a deluge of shells. For months this sort of thing goes on and the trenches of the adversaries remain in the same place; the grim monotony of casualties and watching continues. This arouses the desire to "get at" the enemy which the trench does not satisfy. It means springing over the parapet and rushing across "No Man's Land" into the very houses of the enemy and making him feel on his door step proving which is a better fighter.

To go over the parapet ordinarily means death. In order to make any such rush there must be a "cover," as they say in football, and the barb wire in front of the enemy's trench must be cut. This is usually done by the guns, which are more and more deadly in their ability to turn accurate sprays of destruction on given points. They cover the rush and they cover the turn of the raiders with their prisoners.

But the guns are not all; there are all kinds of organized trickery in order to enable a body of soldiers to get into the enemy's trench in a few minutes of activity, when the occupants throw themselves on their invaders at such close quarters that it is a question if even a revolver is now a practical weapon. It cannot be thrown over a traverse and a bomb can. Running into a German around the corner of a traverse a blow may be better than a shot.

There have been trench raids where every man who went out was responsible for a casualty or prisoner, while the raiders' own loss might not have been one in ten to the enemy's. There are also failures. Success requires that every detail should work out right. The British inaugurated trench raiding, which the Germans promptly adopted. Where its development will end no one dares venture to say.

Overrated German Efficiency
German efficiency will be less made of in the future. Its limitations are as obvious as those of an analytical chemist. It solves a given problem, working from premises laid down, but it is baffled by the unexpected and lacks imagination to "foresee new conditions." It sees narrowly in a straight line and when confronted by unconsidered obstacles which imagination might have provided for, it is like a detective off the track. New York Times.

Thousands of Factories Mobilized
The British Minister of Munitions announces that he has issued further orders under the munitions of war acts, 1915 and 1916, under which 250 additional establishments have been declared contributory to the war effort under the acts. A total of 3,337 establishments has now been declared controlled.

Bulgars Have Set Example

Unlike Germans, Respected Red Cross on Lady Paget's Hospital

There was a large party at King's Cross to welcome Lady Paget and fifty-four other members of the Serbian Relief Fund Hospital staff at Uskub on their return to London. A well known member of Lady Paget's party said: "We have travelled through England via Roumania, Russia, Sweden and Norway. On October 22 the Bulgarians entered Uskub. Their advance was so rapid that there was no possibility of getting the patients safely out of the hospital. Lady Paget pluckily decided to stay behind to look after them. The line of battle went right through the hospital buildings, but the Bulgarians respected the Red Cross flag."

"There were 800 patients, about half of them being Serbs, and the other half Bulgarians. The Bulgarians, I believe, did what they could to help. They told us they were anxious to stand still in English camp. The refugee population, kept alive from the relief fund stores, numbered many thousands. Lady Paget organized daily relief for about 1,000 people."

"King Ferdinand, and both the young princes came to Uskub before we were permitted to leave. None of the dressings were much interested in the Indian made socks, and much astonished what one of Her Majesty's little petticoats has been and is doing for the cause, as we see that in addition to 6 cases of comforters from the proceeds of this little petticoat, there is more to follow."

"The South African picture books are delightful, and I will send them to one of the Officers' Hospitals."

"I should now be glad of a few, and am asked for some for widows and orphans of officers, and as you know our department for women and children has been closed."

"Could you let Mrs. Hamilton know that her shirt was quite correct?"

"With renewed thanks,"

Yours truly,

Advantages of a "Bantam Battalion"

Out west they are raising a "Bantam" Battalion. One has already appeared in the vast "somewhere in France" and an officer referring to it, said that he was much struck by their sturdy appearance. In point of endurance he considered it not improbable that they would make an average new army battalion to a standstill. For trench warfare he considers that they will have a very distinct advantage over the more numerous and the reckless type so familiar to platoon officers, who grow weary of reiterating the injunction, "Keep down."

Tommy (to Jack, on leave)— What about the lingo? Suppose you want to say egg over there, what do you say Jack—Ye just say "Oof." Tommy—But suppose you want two? Jack—Ye say, "Two oofs," and the silly old fule give ye three, and ye just give her back one. Man, it's an awful easy language.—Glasgow Herald.

"I'm sorry, I'm tired." "Then you go to bed." "I don't want to go to bed over a hot stove all day, an' you workin' in a nice cool sewer!"

Wireless Saves Many Lives

The History of Marconi's Great Discovery is Short, But Most Dramatic

There is one man whose name stands out amid the conflict of the European war for what he has done to save life. While other destroy, he preserves.

And this man is Chevalier Marconi, who invented and perfected the wonderful "wireless" telegraph to him belongs the credit of saving life all over the world, since to his great invention thousands of people owe their rescue from maritime disaster.

The history of wireless telegraphy is still short. As recently as 1890 messages were first sent from England to France, while in 1902 the "waves" he had mastered, carried greetings between Canada and England.

The first case on record of "wireless" being employed by a ship in distress occurred on March 3, 1890. On this date the R. F. Matthews ran into the East Goodwin lightship during a heavy fog. The weather conditions would, in the old days, have rendered the work of rescue very difficult, if not impossible. But the R. F. Matthews sent a telegram to him what was then a novelty—Marconi's system of wireless telegraphy. Messages were sent ashore and speedily brought lifeboats to the rescue.

During the next ten years instances are recorded of wireless aiding ships in difficulties, but not until 1909 was public interest really roused in this matter.

On January 23, 1909, just ten years after the case of the R. F. Matthews, the Florida ran into the lightship, the great White Star liner the Republic, off the Nantucket Lightship, some thirty miles from the American coast. The story of the rescue of the Republic is the story of the pluck of Jack Ewins, the wireless operator. Binnas at once began to send urgent calls for help. "C. D. D." Through the roundish air the magic letters sped, being recorded by every wireless receiver for hundreds of miles. And in answer ships changed their courses and hurried to the scene of the disaster. Sixty miles away was the Baltic,

Letter Received From Lady Lawley Expresses Appreciation of Work of Canadian Women

The following is an extract from a letter received by the Montreal branch of Queen Mary's Needlework Guild from Lady Lawley, Hon. Secy. at the Guild Headquarters in London, Eng.:

"I hardly know how to thank all those who have so kindly contributed, and hope you will come to my aid by conveying the expression of Her Majesty's appreciation to the various branches and individual workers who have contributed to your last consignment. Her Majesty was much interested in the Indian made socks, and much astonished what one of Her Majesty's little petticoats has been and is doing for the cause, as we see that in addition to 6 cases of comforters from the proceeds of this little petticoat, there is more to follow."

"The South African picture books are delightful, and I will send them to one of the Officers' Hospitals."

"I'm sorry, I'm tired." "Then you go to bed." "I don't want to go to bed over a hot stove all day, an' you workin' in a nice cool sewer!"

The London Daily Mail's Berlin correspondent, writing on internal conditions in Germany says:

"The morale of the civilian population is considerably shaken by privations and the morale of the army to some extent is affected by the news from home, as well, no doubt, as by the heavy losses at the front. An officer of a Prussian Guard regiment recently said:

"We can win more victories at a price, but each victory brings us nearer to defeat."

"But the nation is kept together by a carefully inspired fear of intended reprisals by the Allies—murder, pillage and arson—and by the idea that the Allies intend after victory to tear the empire to pieces."

"The German army and civilians are by no means in a mood to throw themselves on the mercy of the Allies, nor are they reduced to the condition of a garrison whose fighting men see their rations daily reduced."

"To break the fighting spirit of a nation at bay, something more than economic pressure must be applied. The Germans must see with their eyes that they cannot hold the lines (in the enemy's country, remember) which they have prepared just as the early confidence of civilian Germany was inspired by names on the maps—Brussels, Antwerp, Lille, Belgrade, Warsaw, Monastir, and so on."

"And their mental staying power, undetermined by privations, must finally be broken by names on the maps."

"After making every possible inquiry of everybody I could find who has lived in Germany recently enough to be fairly competent to judge, I believe that if the Germans are forced permanently to evacuate one large town on the Western front, whose name could not be lied off the map, we might at last be able to say that the internal conditions of Germany were bringing victory within sight."

An Irish soldier had lost his left eye in action, but was allowed to remain in the service on consenting to have a glass eye in its place. Being a typical "absent-minded beggar," he appeared to parade one day minus his left "lamp."

"Nolan," said the officer, "you are properly dressed. Why in your artificial eye not in the proper place?"

"Sure, sir," replied Nolan, "I left it in my box to keep an eye on my kit while I'm on parade."

"Would you call Uncle Peter a stingy man?" "Well, no; I'd merely say that he had all his generous impulses under perfect control."—Boston Transcript.

On board were 2,201 passengers and crew, while the vessel itself had cost well over one million pounds to build. Yet in a moment she became a helpless wreck.

The wireless operator sent his call for help broadcast into the air, and it was answered by the Carpathia, which vessel steamed rapidly as possible to the rescue. But before she had reached the scene of the disaster the Titanic had sunk. Out of the 2,000 odd human beings who were placed from the lifeboats of the ill-fated vessel. And it is quite accurate to say that, but for the wireless call, most, if not all, these must have perished from exposure.

But it is not possible to mention even all the most remarkable rescues effected by wireless. There was the Vulturio, which caught fire 1,000 miles west of the Irish coast, and in answer to the wireless appeal no less than eleven ships went to the rescue, saving altogether 921 lives.

Then again, when the Empress of Ireland was struck by the Storstad a wireless call ended in the saving of 482 lives.

But the instances are endless. And the modern usages of war have multiplied them. Of this period nothing as yet can be written; we must wait till the coming days reveal the full story.

But brief mention may be made of the Lusitania, when 764 lives were saved.

A word here as to the call used—S. O. S.—is not at all plain. "C. Q. D." the original call for danger was adapted from the old "all stations," or general call of the telegraph. But at the first of the Wireless Congress it was suggested that a better call was "S. O. S." which by its arrangement of dots and dashes is different from any other call.

"S. O. S." has no special meaning. It is not intended to express "Save our Souls" or anything else equally dramatic. This call is an international one, and has the same meaning in all languages.

As the number of vessels carrying wireless equipment increases, so the work of the sea grows less dangerous has robbed the ocean of much of its terror. Old Neptune is slowly being unmasked.—From Answers, London.
